

Yes She Can^{INC.}

Volunteer Application – peer model

Yes She Can Inc. is a 501c3 nonprofit organization dedicated to helping young women with autism and related disabilities gain transferable job skills to enable them to pursue employment and achieve greater independence. To achieve our goal, Yes She Can operates a training program in an authentic business setting: Girl AGain, a resale boutique for gently used American Girl® dolls and all their accessories, located in White Plains, NY. (Yes She Can is not affiliated with American Girl company).

Trainees are young women ages 17 to 27 who have mild developmental disabilities including autism as well as learning and social disabilities. Some are in high school, others have graduated, and others are attending college.

We are seeking young women with good social skills to work alongside trainees and serve as peer models. Volunteer role:

- help prepare used American Girl merchandise for sale and learn the tasks and processes that our trainees use.
- Volunteer for 2 hours at a time (or more), on the same day and time of the week with a commitment to at least 10 weeks
- Will interact with trainees as you would with typical peers

Community service credits are available.

Please complete application and include your resume. You may mail or email to info@YesSheCanInc.org
