

ADVOCATES FOR ADULTS WITH AUTISM AWARDS

Sponsorship Opportunities

We are pleased to announce our benefit breakfast and invite you to be a sponsor of this celebration of individuals who have made an exceptional contribution to autism advocacy.

Wednesday, October 20, 2021, virtually, from 9am to 10 am edt.

Your sponsorship will help fund this event and will let our community know your commitment to helping young adults with autism achieve their potential.

The proceeds from the event support Yes She Can, a non-profit helping young women with autism and related disabilities gain essential skills leading to employment and greater independence. Our program operates Girl AGain, a resale boutique for American Girl dolls, where trainees learn and practice work tasks, business processes, and social skills that are necessary to be successful in the workplace. These skills are not taught in school. Our program fills this void and provides the necessary stepping stone between school and a successful work placement.

The recipients for this year's Advocates for Adults with Autism Award are:

- Caren Zucker - TV producer: Echoes of Autism. Co-author of the Pulitzer Prize finalist: In a Different Key, the Story of Autism. Documentary film producer of award-winning film: In a Different Key. Mother of Mickey, her son with ASD.
- John Donovan - TV correspondent: Echoes of Autism. Co-author of the Pulitzer Prize finalist: In a Different Key, the Story of Autism. Documentary film producer of award-winning film: In a Different Key. Friend of Mickey.
- Baneesha Mukherjee - Graduate of Yes She Can. Master's degree recipient. Writer and blogger. Employee. Mentor to Yes She Can trainees. Self-advocate.
- Sandi Rosenbaum - Special Education Advocate. Family support services volunteer. Inclusion leader. Mother of Max, her son with ASD.

Attached is information about the sponsorship levels and benefits. Your participation as a sponsor of Advocates for Adults with Autism Awards will motivate others to register for the event and make a contribution so that more young adults will be able to transition to the working world.

Thank you very much for your support.

Sincerely yours,

Marjorie Madfis, President
